ABSTRACT

Based on data gathered in a survey of college and university libraries which was part of the Higher Education General Information Survey conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics, this report provides highlights of the findings and brief discussions with tables summarizing data on collections, transactions, expenditures, library staff, library staff salaries, and management data. Appendices include a description of the survey methodology, technical notes on microform acquisitions and holdings, and a list of joint libraries and member institutions. The bulk of the report comprises three tables providing statistics on U.S. college and university libraries: (1) number of volumes in collections by state or other area and institution for 1978 to 1979 and fall 1979; (2) library operating expenditures, by category of expenditures and by state or other area and institution, for 1978 to 1979; and (3) indexes on operating expenditures for 1978 to 1979, bookstock held at the end of 1978 to 1979, and library staff as of fall 1979. FOREWORD

This report is based on data gathered in a survey of college and university libraries which was a part of the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS) conducted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES). HEGIS was initiated in 1966 to provide a continuing data base on higher education institutions. The last previous library survey was included in the HEGIS conducted in 1977.

College and university library surveys not only provide information on a vital component of higher education institutions, they also complement the data gathered from other types of libraries. Accordingly, the college and university library survey is a part of the Library General Information Survey (LIBGIS) which is also conducted by NCES. LIBGIS gathers data on academic, public, school, and special libraries as well as on networks and the library profession. Collectively, these surveys afford an assessment of the status of libraries in the Nation.

This publication continues the series that provides basic data from each of the academic libraries responding to the survey.

We appreciate the continuing cooperation of college and university librarians who supplied the data in this report. The assistance of State Coordinators who assisted in the collection and review of data from their States is also gratefully acknowledged.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This report is made possible by the cooperative endeavors of many individuals. VSE Corporation of Alexandria, Virginia under contract with the Department of Education, conducted follow-up of nonrespondents, edited survey responses according to NCES specifications, and produced tabular output. Special recognition is extended to Thomas Shifflett and the computer staff of VSE for their untiring efforts in striving for the highest possible completeness and accuracy in the survey results. Special recognition is also extended to NCES staff members who made valuable contributions to the preparation of this report. They include: John Dusatko, Thaddeus Chmura, Stanley Kwaczala, and Kevin Kwiatkowski who provided data processing assistance; Thomas Hill for editorial review and copy preparation of the manuscript; and Sindy McDowell for typing and clerical assistance.

Basic Tables

1. — Collections in college and university libraries, by State or other area and institution: Aggregate United States, 1978-79 and fall 1979	21
2. — Library operating expenditures (in dollars) of college and university libraries, by category of expenditure and by State or other area and institution: Aggregate United States, 1978-79	79
3. — Indexes concerning operating expenditures, 1978-79, bookstock held at end of year, 1978-79, and library staff (FTE), fall 1979, college and university libraries, by State or other area and institution: Aggregate United States	133

HIGHLIGHTS

- Current periodical subscriptions increased by 2.2 percent.
- Fewer book volumes were added to academic library collections than in 1976-77 to continue the downward trend which began in 1972-73.
- Acquisitions of all types of nonprint materials increased at a greater rate than print materials.
- Circulation increased by 1.3 percent and loans to other libraries increased by 10.2 percent.
- Operating expenditures increased 19 percent in a 2-year period, but this increase was equivalent to less than one percent when inflation is discounted.
- Total FTE library staff increased by 2.3 percent. FTE librarians increased by 3.2 percent.
- Staff salaries represented 60 percent of total operating expenditures as in 1976-77.
- Library expenditures per FTE student increased at about the same rate as enrollment when expenditures are adjusted for inflation.

Collections (Table A)

Acquisitions. Substantial numbers of materials were added to academic library collections in 1978-79. Acquisitions were greater than in 1976-77 among all types of library materials with the exception of book volumes and titles. The decline in acquisitions of book volumes continues the downward trend which began in 1972-73. In 1970-71, 26.4 million books were added to collections compared with 21.6 million in 1978-79. Furthermore, 759,000 more books were added to collections in 1976-77 than in 1978-79.

Current periodical subscriptions in 1978-79 exceeded those in 1976-77 by 105,000. Acquisitions of government documents in separate collections were not included in the previous survey. However, they undoubtedly increased because there was substantial growth in holdings of these materials in the 2-year period.

Acquisitions of all types of nonprint material were greater in 1978-79 than in 1976-77. In fact, acquisitions of nonprint materials increased at a greater rate than comparable print materials. Periodicals on microform doubled while periodical subscriptions increased by only 2.2 percent. Furthermore, book titles on microform increased approximately 8 percent in contrast to a decline of nearly 8 percent in printed book titles.

Holdings. Additions to collections in the 2-year period since 1976-77 resulted in widely varying rates of increase in library holdings. Book volumes and book titles had the lowest rates of increase; 8 and 3 percent, respectively. These comparatively lower rates reflect the downward trend in book volume acquisitions in recent years which was cited above. At the other extreme, periodical titles on microform nearly doubled. Such a large increase in this type of library material is viewed with skepticism because it may be attributable, in part, to inconsistencies in reporting. Probable causes of these inconsistencies are discussed in appendix B.

The rates of increase among the remaining items in library collections varied between approximately 9 and 30 percent.

Transactions (Table B)

Circulation of library materials in academic libraries was 1.3 percent higher than in 1976-77. Interlibrary loans to other libraries increased by 10.2 percent, while loans from other libraries increased by 6.9 percent. The ratio of loans made by academic libraries to the number received from all libraries was 1.6:1 in both 1976-77 and 1978-79. It is apparent that collections in academic libraries are serving needs in other types of libraries as well, since academic libraries are lenders, on balance, rather than recipients.

Reference and directional transactions (per typical week) both increased by approximately 10 percent in the 2-year period. Group transactions were surveyed for the first time in 1979. Data from 2,193 libraries presented in table B represent an average of 15.6 participants per group transaction.

Expenditures (Table C)

Operating expenditures in academic libraries increased by $242 million; a 19.3 percent increase in the 2-year period. During the same period, the inflation rate as indicated by the Consumer Price Index (CPI) was nearly 17 percent. When inflation is discounted by converting the 1978-79 expenditures to 1976-77 dollars, the increase in total library expenditures is equivalent to $27 million; only 2.2 percent greater than in 1976-77.

Expenditures for periodicals increased at a greater rate than any budgetary item except "all other library materials." The large increase in "all other library materials" may be due in part to some libraries reporting all of their expenditures for library materials in this category because they were unable to report expenditures for each separate item.

Expenditures for staff compensation¹ of $904 million were slightly more than double the amount spent on library materials², but expenditures for library materials were 20.5 percent above 1976-77 as compared with a 17.9 percent increase in staff compensation. When adjusted for inflation, the increase in staff compensation is equivalent to 1.0 percent, while the equivalent increase for library materials is 3.2 percent.

In the fall of 1979, there were 58,416 full-time-equivalents (FTE) among a total staff of 63,734 persons. Full-time employees represented 84 percent of total employment. The average FTE of a part-time professional was .45 compared with .48 for nonprofessionals.

The total staff, in terms of FTE's, increased 2.3 percent from the number in fall 1977. FTE librarians increased by 3.2 percent. The second largest rate of increase was among nonprofessionals. "Other professionals" virtually remained constant, while FTE administrators declined by 1.8 percent.

Women outnumbered men by a ratio of approximately 3:1 for the total staff, but the ratios varied among the four employment categories. In the administrator category, the numbers of FTE men and women were practically equal. On the other hand, there were more than twice as many FTE women librarians as men and more than five times as many FTE women in nonprofessional jobs as men.

The number of hours of student assistance declined, but was only 1 percent less than in 1976-77.

² Sum of expenditures for books, periodicals, microform, audiovisuals, and other library materials.

Library Staff Salaries (Table E)

Average salaries for full-time library administrators were 15.5 percent higher in fall 1979 than in fall 1977. The average salary of librarians increased by 14.1 percent; "other professionals" by 12.8 percent; and nonprofessionals by 16.2 percent. Women's salaries increased at a greater rate than men's in each of the job categories except "other professionals." Still, the average salary for women was substantially less than for men in all cases. The greatest difference was among administrators where the average salary for men exceeded that of women by $5,560. In contrast, the difference among librarians was $1,777.

Management Data (Table F)

The distributions of expenditures by purpose was nearly identical in 1976-77 and 1978-79. Staff compensation and library materials, the two major expenditure items, collectively represented about 90 percent of the total with staff compensation being twice that for library materials.

The proportion expended for staff compensation followed a consistently higher trend over the decade ending in 1976-77. Although 60.2 percent in 1978-79 represents a trivial decline below the 60.9 percent in 1976-77, the difference of only a fraction of a percentage point should probably be regarded as a leveling of the trend rather than the beginning of a reversal.

Library expenditures as a percentage of education and general expenditures, even though nearly identical to the percentage in 1976-77, was lower than it has been in the last 10 years when it varied between 3.8 and 4.0 percent. Although a consistent trend in this statistic has not been evident, the tendency has been downward.

Library expenditures per FTE student were $27.00, or 18 percent, higher in 1978-79 than in 1976-77, but most of this increase was attributable to inflation. When inflationary effects are removed by adjusting 1978-79 expenditures to 1976-77 dollars using the Consumer Price Index as a deflator, the expenditure per FTE student becomes $151.65 in contrast to the $177.04 shown in table F. Thus, in terms of purchasing power, expenditures per FTE student increased by 1.2 percent rather than 18 percent. FTE enrollment increased by 0.9 percent during the same 2-year period; therefore, expenditures merely kept pace with enrollment.

FTE library staff per 1,000 FTE students was virtually unchanged in the 2-year period. At both the professional and non-professional levels, the ratios of library staff per student were about the same as in 1976-77.

Appendix A. METHODOLOGY

Survey Universe and Response

The universe of college and university libraries was derived from the universe of colleges and universities, as defined by the Department of Education, which enumerates individual institutions and each of the branches of multi-campus institutions.¹ There were 3,190 institutions and branches in the college and university universe in the 1979-80 academic year. Some of these institutions and branches had no library facilities, while others were affiliates of a joint library. The universe of 3,122 college and university libraries was established from the college and university universe by: (1) removing the institutions and branches of institutions that had no library or were members of joint libraries, and (2) adding the joint libraries.²

The following tabulation shows the derivation of the college and university library universe:

Institutional control	College and university universe	No library	Members of joint libraries	Joint libraries	College and university library universe
Public and private	3,190	33	56	21	3,122
Public	1,488	18	13	7	1,464
Private	1,702	15	43	14	1,658

The list of institutions and branches where the 3,122 libraries are located appears in tables 1 through 3. Completed questionnaires were received from 2,945 of the 3,122 libraries. The following tabulation shows response rates by institutional control:

Institutional control	Library universe	Number responding	Percent responding
Public and private	3,122	2,945	94.3
Public	1,464	1,446	98.8
Private	1,658	1,499	90.4

Imputation Procedure

To obtain national totals for the data items included in this report, it was necessary to impute responses for the 177 libraries that did not submit survey forms and for certain data items that were not provided by respondents. Salaries of library staff were not imputed because the survey response rate was sufficiently high to provide reliable measures of mean salaries.

Data were imputed for libraries that failed to submit a survey form by substituting either: (1) the library's response to the 1977 survey, when available, or (2) the response to the 1979 survey by a library in an institution having characteristics similar to the institution in which the nonresponding library was located.

² Joint libraries and member institutions are listed in Appendix C.

Of the 177 nonrespondents, 77 libraries had responded to the 1977 survey, so those data were substituted without adjustment in lieu of responses to the 1979 survey. Since all of these libraries were relatively small, attempts to estimate changes in data over the intervening 2-year period could have introduced errors. Furthermore, small differences that might have resulted from adjustment would have been insignificant in relation to the universe.

Imputation for the 100 remaining nonrespondents was accomplished by substituting data from a responding library that was located in an institution having characteristics similar to the institution in which the nonresponding library was located. Institutions were judged as being similar if the following characteristics of each were identical or closely approximate:

- (1) institutional control (financially supported by: (a) Federal, State, or local governments; (b) a religious denomination; or (c) an independent nonprofit or profitmaking organization)
- (2) institutional level (university, 4-year, or 2-year)
- (3) enrollment size
- (4) highest degree offered
- (5) accreditation in specialized subject fields
- (6) geographical location

Omitted items were also imputed by substituting responses from the 1977 survey or from a peer institution. Ratios were also utilized for greater precision, when appropriate. For example, the ratio of book titles to book volumes was used to impute book titles for 247 libraries; the largest number of omitted items. In 100 of these cases, book titles and volumes were available for 1976-77, so that ratio was applied to book volumes reported in 1978-79 to obtain an estimate of book titles in 1978-79. In each of the remaining 147 cases, neither titles nor volumes were reported in 1976-77, so ratios of book titles to book volumes in similar libraries in the 1978-79 survey were applied to book volumes reported by libraries omitting book titles in 1978-79.

Tabular Procedures

In basic tables 1 through 3, the 3,190 institutions and branches in the higher education universe, along with 21 joint libraries, are listed in alphabetical order within States. The institutions comprising a system and the branches of multicampus institutions are both designated by brackets in the left margin of the tables.

Data are presented in tables 1 through 3 for each of the institutions, branches, and joint libraries in the higher education universe. Members of joint libraries are identified by a reference to the name of the joint library to which they belong. Institutions having no library facilities are so designated.

The survey items not reported by respondents are indicated by alphabetical symbols in the tables 1 through 3. Data were imputed for the unreported items in tables 1 and 2, and those values are included in the summary figures presented in tables A, B, C, D, and F. Mean salaries of library staff, which appear in table E, were calculated from the data provided by responding libraries and do not include imputation for nonresponse.

Classification of Institutions

The abbreviations in column 2 of basic tables 1 through 3 pertain to the institutional control and level of the institutions or branches, and are translated as follows:

- PUB — Public. An institution financially supported by public funds derived from Federal, State, or local revenues.
- PRI — Private. An institution financially supported by a religious denomination or independently operated as either a nonprofit or a profitmaking organization.
- U — University. An institution that: (a) gives considerable stress to graduate instruction, (b) confers undergraduate and graduate degrees in a variety of liberal arts fields, and (c) has at least two professional schools that are not exclusively technological.
- FG — 4-year institutions with graduate programs. A 4-year institution, not classified as a university, offering programs leading to graduate or other postbaccalaureate degrees, including first-professional degrees.
- FN — 4-year institutions with no graduate programs. A 4-year institution, not classified as a university, offering no degrees beyond the baccalaureate.
- T — 2-year institution. An institution offering at least 2 but less than 4 years of college-level education.

Appendix B. TECHNICAL NOTES

Survey questions pertaining to microform have been identical since 1975 when librarians were asked to report acquisitions and holdings of book titles, periodical titles, and of physical units of microform other than book or periodical titles. The data from four surveys conducted over a 5-year period are presented in the table below:

Microform acquisitions and holdings (in thousands)

Year	Book Titles on Microform		Periodical Titles on Microform		Physical Units (not included as book or periodical titles)
	Added	Held	Added	Held	Added	Held
1974-75	4,009	36,415	210	1,689	14,424	129,460
1975-76	3,030	31,552	143	1,345	18,348	156,399
1976-77	3,041	35,501	143	1,305	18,378	172,976
1978-79	3,277	39,175	287	2,504	21,675	224,335

Books and periodicals are expected to constitute the majority of material on microform, yet acquisitions and holdings of physical units (other than books or periodicals) exceeded those of book and periodical titles by 3 to 6 times. This may be indicative of books and periodicals being reported in terms of physical units as well as titles, or the reporting of physical units rather than titles.

The table above shows that acquisitions and holdings of physical units consistently increased in each successive survey year. On the other hand, acquisitions and holdings of both book titles and periodical titles increased in some years and declined in others. While acquisitions would not necessarily increase in each successive survey, holdings would be expected to increase if discards did not exceed acquisitions. Even though data were not collected on discards, it is highly improbable that discards accounted for the wide fluctuations in microform holdings. For example, 36.4 million book titles on microform were held at the end of 1974-75. The addition of 3 million titles in 1975-76 should have increased holdings to approximately 39 million, but only 31.6 million holdings were reported. Similar disparities are evident in other years and among periodical titles as well.

Possible causes of disparities in microform data are as follows:

- (1) Misinterpretation of survey definitions in earlier years could have led to adjustments in subsequent years. Fluctuations among book and periodical titles may have been caused by enumerating these items in terms of physical units and later changing to counts of titles.
- (2) Records of microform materials, as kept by many libraries, may not permit accurate counts or reliable estimates of these survey items. Periodical titles pose a special problem. Duplicate counting may well result when a periodical is added to a collection at irregular intervals.
- (3) Data continuity can be affected by different persons completing the survey form in successive surveys; particularly when the survey interval is biennial or less frequent.
